

STAT

Newspaper Women Fete New Spanish Envoy

When a bull fighter wins the fancy of the crowd for know-how in the ring, he's awarded the bull's ear.

It was a cocktail party last night—not a bull fight—at which the Spanish Ambassador and Senora de Areilza walked off with the bull's ear, socially speaking.

The American Newspaper Women's Club was the arena in which the diplomatic pair starred between 6 and 8 p.m. And the place was packed with Washingtonians who came to meet the newly arrived Spaniards.

Oles in Order

"Oles" were chalked up in a hurry by club members who helped plan the party—co-chairman Katherine McKiever and Jessie Stearns and, of course, club president Ruth Crane.

Two of the town's top hostesses, Gwen Cafritz and Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, were surrounded by friends the minute they walked in.

In the husbands-who-came-too department there were FOA Director Harold Stassen and Gen. Charles Cabell.

It sounded like old home week—New Orleans style—when Spanish Counselor and Senora de Garay spotted Baroness Heda von Meysenbug. The trio first met when Senor Garay served as Spanish Consul in that city.

Among those asked to pour coffee were Senora de Armesto, Senora de Bolin, Mrs. Dennis Chavez, Mrs. Livingston Merchant, Mrs. John Farr, Simmons, Mrs. Fred Seaton and Mrs. Leland S. Briggs.

Hat Honors

Party hat honors went to Miss Jane Marhly and Miss Pat Oliver.

More committee members who had a hand in the gala event were Mrs. John P. Courtney, Mrs. Eric Johnston, Miss Elinor Griest, Miss Bernice Strawn, Mrs. Eva Boothby Bray, Miss Ida Jean Kain and Miss Dorothy Tuttle.

Party talk came from Mr. and Mrs. Roy St. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sinclair Smith, Mrs. Robert Whitney Imbrie, Mrs. James G. Clark, Mrs. Clarence Norton Goodwin, Miss Anne Thomas, who's going to Korea in a few weeks for the United States Information Agency; Miss Meta Evans, Navy Captains C. E. Gordon, jr., and Viggo H. Conradt-Eberlin, and Mrs. George Green, one of the most attractive service wives in town who was escorted by her Air Force colonel husband.

Guests also included a number of Spanish Embassy diplomats and their wives.